Paper 3 Modern Depth Study: The USA, 1954–75: conflict at home and abroad.	Focus The civil rights movement, 1960 – 1975

Intent of this scheme of learning	Prior learning and links to future learning
The intent of this scheme of learning is for students to study an analysis of how the civil rights movement used a variety of means to gain equality for African Americans in the supposed 'land of the free'. Students will see the inter-relationship of political, economic and social factors in both preventing and bringing about change. Students will draw comparisons with current campaigns for change and the impact of Civil Rights for today.	At KS3, students have learnt about the Transatlantic slave trade and the fight for equality following the abolition of slavery. Students also studied other areas of protest and campaigns for change with women and workers rights. This scheme links to the next unit which is the Vietnam conflict and the role of the US.
